MAYO CIVIC CENTER, ST. CROIX RIVER BRIDGE & MINNESOTA STATE CAPITOL PROJECTS LEAD THE 2017 TOP PROJECTS LIST

Finance and Commerce (F&C) news has selected their 2017 Top Projects awards in Minnesota and the winners include another group of union built projects including the Rochester Mayo Civic Center Convention Center Expansion, the skillfully restored Minnesota State Capitol building and the massive St. Croix Crossing Bridge near Stillwater. All three of these projects were built by Union contractors and skilled Union tradesmen and women under Project Labor Agreements.

According to F&C, an independent panel of judges looked at the degree of difficulty, creativity in design, innovative construction techniques, cooperation among contractors and management and sustainability efforts to rate each project submitted.

The Rochester Mayo Civic Center Convention Center Expansion project was aided by the 2014 Capital Investment Bonding bill, approved by the legislature and signed by Governor Mark Dayton. The expansion brings upwards of 200,000 square feet of flexible meeting and exhibit space to handle industry events, technical conferences, health care summits and more. The project was led by Union contractor Knutson Construction and many area subcontractors as well as LIUNA Local 405 members from the Rochester vicinity.

J.E. Dunn Construction led the general contracting efforts of the highly anticipated $310 million Minnesota State Capitol Restoration project. Highly skilled Union craftsmen and women played a major role in this project as they once did 100 years ago. The historic renovation work greatly depicts the true talent and flare of Minnesota's Union construction industry as hundreds of men and women worked over a 4 year period to safeguard the integrity of this historic landmark, giving it a fully refreshed look while improving structural aspects as well.

One of the region's most impressive bridge projects made the Top Projects list. Led by Lunda Construction and Ames Construction in a joint venture, the $600 million St. Croix River

Crossing project created hundreds of jobs for LIUNA members over a three year time frame. One of the most critical facets of work by LIUNA members was casting the concrete segments that made up the framework span of the bridge.

Duluth had two Top Projects according to F&C News. Cirrus Aircraft Completion Center, a $12.7 million expansion built by Union contractor McGough Construction and Union subcontractors is generating 150 new jobs to a company that has built over 6,000 aircrafts. The downtown Duluth NorShor Theatre renovation built by Union contractor Johnson-Wilson Constructors was also recognized. This was a major restoration of the original Grand Opera House, built in 1889.

In Minneapolis, the $140 million Target Center Renovation project led by Union contractor Mortenson Construction also made the list. The much needed renovation improved many fan and visitor amenities including a new reinvigorated exterior.

LECET MISSION

The Minnesota Laborers-Employers Cooperation & Education Trust (LECET) fund was created in 1992 as a non-profit joint Labor/Management cooperation effort affiliated with the Minnesota Laborers Union. LECET aims to promote the many benefits of Union construction while addressing a number of initiatives that are of mutual benefit to both signatory Union Contractors and LIUNA members.

LEGISLATIVE RECAP - BONDING BILL WILL CREATE JOBS

By Russell Hess, Political Director, Laborers District Council of MN & ND

The 2018 Legislative session ended with a mixed result for LIUNA Minnesota. Our top priority this session was passing a Constitutional Amendment dedicating transportation related sales taxes to road and bridge projects. While we narrowly lost that fight, we did succeed in sending a message that a strong transportation system is vital to the well-being of our state. On the plus side, the legislature passed and Governor Dayton signed, a nearly $1.5 billion bonding package to create jobs and rebuild our public infrastructure. Those projects will create good paying jobs for LIUNA members and signatory contractors all over the state.

We were also successful in passing legislation that will raise some benefits for injured workers in the Workers Compensation system. Additionally, two provisions included in the Omnibus Pension Bill will strengthen the retirement security of some of our public employee members. These small changes are significant to those members affected by them.

Finally, we were successfully able to fight back against any attacks on our right to organize, attacks on prevailing wages or attempts to make

Minnesota a “right-to-work” state. But make no mistake, the threats remain and we will have to stay alert at the Capitol for continuing attacks on our members’ ability to earn a good living.

LIUNA members came out in strong numbers to participate in the Annual Building Trades/Laborers Day on the Hill event.

MINNESOTA PREVAILING WAGE LAW

FAST FACT NO. 3

Did you know that prevailing wage requirements are found on many different types of projects? Under the Minnesota State Prevailing Wage Law these requirements apply to projects that the state owns or funds. Similarly, any project owned by the federal government and most projects funded by the federal government are subject to federal prevailing wage requirements.

This also means that many local projects have prevailing wage requirements when they receive state and federal funding. Many local governments, including cities, counties, and school districts, recognize the value of prevailing wage, and have adopted ordinances and policies requiring prevailing wages on their projects whether or not they receive state or federal funding. These local governments want to ensure that local workers and contractors are not undercut by non-local entities on construction in their own communities, and want to ensure that they receive bids from quality

Why Prevailing Wages Matter

- > Keep construction jobs local
- > Train and retain our own skilled workforce
- > Improve own economy by keeping tax $ right here

contractors with highly skilled and highly trained workers when they spend taxpayer money on construction.

CELEBRATING SUCCESS & BUILDING THE FUTURE

Training Center Celebrates 30 Years of Training

Past and current Minnesota Laborers Training Center Trustees participated in the 30 Years of LIUNA Training Celebration held this spring at the LTC as part of the Annual Contractor Appreciation Open House event.

LTC Board Chairman Fred Chase, President of Lametti & Sons Inc., gave the crowd a historical perspective the LTC has made over the past 30 years.

LIUNA Local 405 Achieves 100 Year Milestone

LIUNA Local 405 had a successful 100 year celebration event on May 3rd at the Rochester Eagles Club with hundreds attending including Local media, Union contractor representatives, LIUNA members, Rochester Area civic leaders and more. US Congressman Tim Walz (shown above, middle), Rochester Mayor Ardele Brede, Union Contractor representative Aaron Benike and Terry Healy, LIUNA Vice President gave remarks. Local 405 was issued special proclamations by the City of Rochester and Governor Dayton. Pictured above, LIUNA officials, led by Dave Borst, Local 405 Business Manager (scissors in hand) and Rochester civic leaders cut a commemorative ribbon, noting May 3rd as LIUNA Local 405 day in Rochester.

LIUNA/LECET Sponsors Williston Basin Petroleum Conference

LIUNA Minnesota / North Dakota and LECET participated as a signature event sponsor for the Williston Basin Petroleum Conference in Bismarck, ND, in May. This annual event brings 2,500 oil and gas industry experts, contractors, owners and association members together annually to discuss opportunities in going forward. LIUNA is a national stakeholder in building all of the nation's energy infrastructure including the needs of the petroleum industry.

LECET ANNOUNCES THREE SCHOLARSHIP WINNERS

In the tenth year of the Minnesota Laborers – Employers Cooperation & Education Trust Scholarship/Leadership Grant Program, the fund announced another impressive group of winning candidates. The winners have met eligibility requirements in either their LIUNA Union membership or employment with a signatory Union contractor. The financial assistance award is in the amount of up to $1,000 and must be used for the winner's eligible coursework and construction related programs.

The 2018 winners are:

Adam Hutchens has been a LIUNA Local 563 Union member since 2006 and is currently employed as an instructor at the Construction Laborers Training Center. Hutchens intends to use the Leadership grant to garner additional training that can be brought back to the membership and impact the next generation.

Ayodeji Oladeinde is employed by Union contractor PCL Construction Services as a Field Engineer Intern and is majoring in Construction Management at the University of Minnesota. Oladeinde has been with PCL since 2015 and is currently at the Intercontinental Hotel project by (MSP) Lindbergh Terminal 1.

Travis Strozyk is a Superintendent for Morcon Construction and has been a member of LIUNA Local 563 since 2005. He plans to use the financial assistance to help further his education at North Hennepin Community College and to become a Project Manager.

CUMULATIVE STRESS CAN TAKE A TOLL

By Daniel J. Enga, CPFC, Sand Creek Workplace Wellness

One of the things that can happen so easily with cumulative stress is that we lose track of how we are taking care of our self. When we are functioning with emotional wellness, there is likely a good flow of energy in and energy out during a 24 hour period. With cumulative stress, little by little the scale can tip so that the things that drain our energy creep up (the energy going out) and how we take care of our self (energy in) tends to decline. As our energy is depleted, it is easy to become more reactive, less conscious of our choices and function in more of a survival mode. At that point, it is easy for the spiral to continue by feeling fatigue, stopping previously enjoyed activities and withdrawing.

This process can happen to any of us.

Keeping track of our emotional wellness means noticing our responses to events as well as the choices that we make. Here are ideas to check in on your emotional wellness:

- > Take the time to notice how you are responding, how you are feeling and how your life looks to you now vs. 3-6 months ago. Were you enjoying yourself more than you are now?
- > Ask someone that cares about you what they have seen in your behavior and attitude in the last month.
- > Consider whether you have been looking for opportunities to numb out rather than taking time to notice how you are.

- > Professional help may be useful to sort out if there is a clinical mental health concern that has developed or not. This is a great use of your EAP – Sand Creek. Give us a call.

TRAIN UP MATTERS...

- LTC of Minnesota and North Dakota Training instructors recently attended the LIUNA Annual Instructors Conference in Chicago to brush up on ANSI certifications and training techniques. This invaluable training is brought back to the LIUNA membership each year with a mission of providing employers with their most important resource: a highly trained, safe and effective workforce. Each year thousands of LIUNA members are empowered through training to realize their dream of a rewarding career in the construction industry.
- The LTC has partnered with the Minneapolis Building Trades and six

Tribal Employment Rights Ordinance (TERO) organizations, state-wide to draw more interest among Native Americans into entering careers in the construction industry.

- The Laborers Training Center and LECET will be hosting their Annual Fall Construction Industry Open House on Friday Oct. 12. The event is designed for Union contractors, project owners, public officials, government officials and legislative leaders and once again features educational topics of importance to the construction industry.
- Kevin Poorker, a 33-year member of Local 563 and 10 year instructor at the LTC has announced his retirement. He spent much of his career in the mason tending/scaffold erection work sector. "I am thankful to have been a part of the Laborers Union," said Poorker. "My career has provided me with good pay and benefits to provide for my family. I feel pride in knowing that Laborers today can get a much better head start and learn to work safer because of our LIUNA training programs."
